Over ten years of a scientific career in multiple locations including demonstrator at Faculty of Science, Al- Azhar University, Egypt and Master fellowship at Hot Laboratory Center, Egyptian Atomic Energy Authority (EAEA), Egypt and researcher for Lignocellulosic-based bio-refinery at China National Pulp and Paper Research Institute (CNPPRI), Beijing, China during the year of 2017, part-time consultant for Bureau of Science & Technology, Institute of Science & Technology Cooperation and Innovation Development (ISTCID), Inner Mongolia Autonomous Region, China from Oct 2017 to Oct 2019. I am now Associate Professor of Environmental Chemistry & Director of R&D at Sanitary & Environmental Institute (SEI), Housing and Building National Research Center (HBRC), Egypt with academic excellence and scientific success certificates. Experiences gained from several International Joint Cooperation (IJC) projects in the field of water and wastewater treatment and water quality assessments with South Africa, Japan, USA, Italy, and China. I have gained national and International memberships including the Egyptian Young Academy of Science (EYAS), Ocean Expert (Directory of Marine and Freshwater Professionals), American Chemical Society (ACS), Royal Society of Chemistry (RSC), American Association for Science and Technology (AASCIT), We The Microbiologist (WTM), the International Association of Engineers (IAENG), the New York Academy of Sciences, International Association of Hydrological Sciences (IAHS), International Society for Environmental Information Sciences (ISEIS), Society of Environmental Toxicology and Chemistry (SETAC) in Africa. I am also a reviewer and editorial board member of different high-ranked journals including the AEIC Scholar Expert Reviewer, World Academy of Science, Engineering & Technology (WASET), Research on Chemical Intermediates (RINT), and Brazilian Archives of Biology & Technology.

My research interests are deeply focused on bioremediation, biodegradation, and nano-techniques for water and wastewater treatment systems using all-optical devices and spectroscopy instruments in order to measure the quality before and after treatment of water and wastewater. This includes planning and preparation of research proposals, supervision of technical staff and students, initiating new lines of research and performing innovative cross-discipline research, presenting lecturers in training courses, and presenting papers at conferences. I am usually proposing systems that remediate and transform pollution which relies on the ability of eco-friendly and low-cost environmental materials including biological, chemical, physical, and their constituents both naturally occurring and induced to support natural attenuation of the environment. My recent researches cover the use of Microbial Fuel Cell (MFC) for both electricity production and wastewater treatment. International Joint Cooperation (IJC), scientific memberships, reviewer and editorial activities of research articles, conferences, workshops, seminars, preparing and teaching course materials are represented all of my scientific activities.
